'Road hunting' concerns aired

By Frances Paulette

It's that time again, hunting season. The Appomattox County Board of Supervisors is concerned with shooting in or along the roadways.

Representatives of concerned communities have appeared before the board requesting that the board take a look at the problem of road hunting with the idea of coming up with a solution to the problem without depriving the hunters of their privilege of hunting.

The board urges hunters to be aware of property owners rights to walk or bike along the roads of their property without the fear of a stray bullet coming their way. Shooting in or along the roadways endangers the lives of children and pets who may be walking or playing beside the road.

It is the aim of the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors to see that the present law be enforced. It reads:

"Pursuant to Virginia Code Section 18, 2-286 Shooting in or along road or street . . . If any person discharge a firearm in or along any road, or within one hundred yards thereof, or in a street of any city or town, he shall, for each offense, be guilty of a Class 4 misdemeanor. The provisions of this section shall not apply to firing ranges or shooting matches maintained and supervised or approved, by law enforcement officers and military personnel in performance of their lawful duties. (Code 1950, Section 33.1 349; 1970, c. 322; 1975 cc. 14, 15)

If the board continues to receive complaints of landowners concerning the problem of road hunting, stronger action will have to be taken.

While Appomattox County does not, at this time, regulate the carrying of loaded firearms on public highways, if the problem of road hunting continues, it may become necessary to enforce this law in Appomattox County, according to a spokesman for the board.

A letter concerning the problem of road hunting will go out to all hunting clubs from the Board of Supervisors.

LIONS GERALD WILBUN AND DAN TURNER show a portion of the Benson's fruit cakes which the Appomattox Lions Club is selling for the holiday season. The cakes, a popular holiday item in this area for many years, are available from any Lions Club member, at Wilbun's Supermarket, and from various [illegible] around Appomattox. The Lions have kept the [illegible] cakes down this year: a three-pound [illegible] costs six dollars, same as last year. Proceeds from the sale are used to support the Lions Community-service activities. (Photo by Bill Sherrod)

Marshall wins contest

Steve Marshall edged Ron Guill in a tiebreaker to take top honors in last week's Times-Virginian football contest.

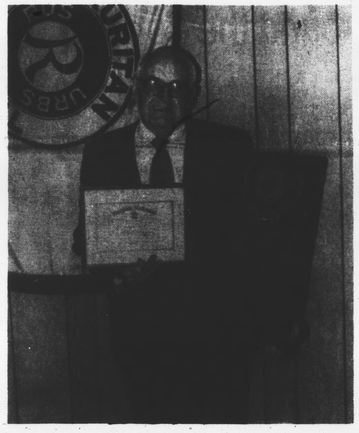
Marshall and Guill each missed accurately predicting the outcomes of only three of the contest games. Marshall's predictions of the exact scores of the two tiebreaker games were closer to the actual scores than were Guill's, however, and Marshall was declared the winner.

Ten other contestants were in the running in last week's contest. Missing only four of the contest games were Tom Cobb, Frances Guill, Wilson Staples, Sally Coleman, Robert H. Fleshman, Angela Seay, Mark Marshall, David Robertson, Rita Marshall and Cornelius Davis.

For his winning efforts, Marshall will receive a check for $20 from the Times-Virginian, and a free chicken dinner from the Chicken Palace Restaurant. Guill will receive a check for $10 from the paper, and a free chicken dinner from the Chicken Palace.

The 1982 Times-Virginian football contest concludes this week, with the final contest entry sheet, complete with rules and details on prizes, inside this issue of the paper.

Hancock is Concord's 'Citizen of Year'



James H. Hancock, Jr., Concord Ruritan's "Citizen of the Year"

James H. "Jimmy" Hancock, Jr., has been named recipient of this year's Concord Ruritan Citizenship Award.

Hancock, who is retired from the Campbell County public school system, has been a member of the Concord Ruritan Club since 1951. He is a past president, secretary and zone governor for the club, and has had perfect club attendance for 25 years.

A native of the Lynchburg area, Hancock worked in various capacities within the Campbell County school system for 28 years. During that time, along with his duties as a vice-principal and principal, he worked with the young people of Campbell County through the Boy Scouts, 4-H and the Royal Ambassadors of the Baptist Youth Organization.

He received the Silver Beaver Award and the Award of Merit from the Boy Scouts of America for his work with youth, and currently serves as assistant district commissioner for the Boy Scouts.

Hancock is a member of the American Legion's National Committee on Youth, a deacon of New Chapel Baptist Church, and a moderator for the Appomattox Baptist Association, which includes 28 Baptist churches in this area.

A graduate of Hampden-Sydney College, Hancock holds a master's degree from George Peabody College for Teachers (division of Vanderbilt Univeristy), and has completed approximately 2/3 of the work needed for a doctorate in education.

He is married to the former Louise Carwile, and they have one son, James H. Hancock III, age 25.

Lions to meet

The Appomattox Lions Club will meet on Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at 6:45 at the John Mosby Inn Restaurant.

Barrye Wall, editor of The Farmville Hearld, will be the guest speaker.

All members are urged to attend.

Petition asks for resignation

A petition requesting the resignation of Pamplin Mayor Pat Harrison is being circulated in that town, and a group of Pamplin citizens plans to present the petition to the Mayor and Council at their Dec. 7 meeting.

The petition has more than 50 signatures, including approximately 35 signatures of registered voters in the town, according to spokesman Bert Peters, who has the petition hanging in his country store on Main Street. Peters says that the petition has well in excess of the number of registered voters' signatures needed to validate it.

The reasons cited in the petition for asking the mayor to resign include "neglect of duty, ineffectiveness, and misuse of office."

Peters, who is not a registered voter in town but who owns property there, said that the petition resulted from a feeling among some that Harrison "is not qualified" to be mayor of Pamplin.

"The consensus is that these allegations do not refer to Harrison as a person, but rather to his performance as a mayor," according to Peters.

"The people behind this (the petition) feel that the mayor has been insensitive to the needs of Pamplin, that he has not been in favor of the consensus of the community," Peters says.

Many of those who have signed the petition feel that the mayor opposed use of the old Pamplin Elementary School as a garment factory, according to Peters. The Town Council voted at their last meeting to accept the school building from the County Board of Supervisors, to be leased as a garment factory.

According to Peters, a registered voter will deliver the petition to the Mayor and Council at their Dec. 7 meeting.

If the petition is in order and the mayor refuses to resign, then the document can be taken to the Circuit Court judge, who will hear evidence and rule on whether a recall is in order.

Mayor Harrison declined comment on the issue when contacted by telephone on Tuesday.

November is 'Firemen's Month'

November is Firemen's Month in Appomattox. James Ford and Paul Drinkard are taking contributions for the Fireman's Fund to be used to provide a Christmas gift of appreciation to the men who give of their time and energy as members of the Appomattox Volunteer Fire Department.

"The contributions are a bit slow in coming in this year," commented Appomattox Mayor Ronald C. Spiggle. "We hope our people will be generous when they are approached for a contribution."

Father Darkleaf

Greetings from Martha Street, in historic Appomattox, as we enjoy a week of crisp November weather. Big news is the deer hunting season and prospects of it being a successful one for all but the deer. Statewide, the estimated deer kill is around 80,000. Birds and rabbits will be on the target list. Appomattox has for many generations been rated high for its interest in hunting. I do not hunt, but wish for a successful season, and urge that all safety precautions be observed.

For some years a Red Cardinal has visited the bird feeder at my windowside, and on occasion has brought his mate along. Saturday I looked out and saw not one but two Red Cardinals. Plus a small covey of sparrows. So-o-o, filled the feeder with small wildbird seed, and wish a few chickadees would show.

November 18 is designated as American Smokeout Day and pledge cards have been distributed to encourage smokers to get the habit under control. I have a suggestion. Go back to the "roll your own" days. There would be a mighty drop in smoking if'n you had to carry a little sack of loose tobacco and a packet of cigarette papers and roll your own. Could be done, but you would not see many chain smokers.

Thanksgiving Day next week. I try to be thankful every day and have never run out of things to be thankful for. And then Christmas. Christmas ads in the papers already and I wish more papers would run the "Letters to Santa" feature. Some early shoppers already have their lists all figured out. What I need is an up-to-date mailing list so could send out a few greetings.

So many upsets in football games this season. Good college games have minimized the effect of the pro strike. Attendance has been excellent. ACHS had its share of glory and the Raiders had fine fan support. There are so many games it is hard to keep tab, but I always manage to find out how Slippery Rock fared, even if it's the 14 to 12 loss last weekend to California, Pa. And coming up ... basketball and the tall players.

The Rescue Squad and Volunteer Firemen had a busy week. Please be careful. And grateful that these volunteers are ready to help you in time of need.

On the ball. Several restaurants advertised special Hunter's Breakfast, some before dawn.

Wish more had attended the Veterans' Day program in the local court house square. I was there and there was an appropriate recognition of our vets. The Flame keeps burning.

Thanks for reading and seeya around.

A SMALL CROWD of veterans, families and friends of veterans attended a wreath-laying ceremony and memorial service for veterans of the first world war and all American wars at the Appomattox War memorial last Thursday, Nov. 11. One WWI veteran, George Wooldridge was present at the ceremony. Sponsored by the American Legion Post 104 and the Appomattox Chapter of the American Legion Auxiliary, Commander Dennis E. Gragg and Mrs. Ivey Holland laid the wreath. This service was especially timely, since dedication services for the Viet Nam War Memorial in Washington, D. C., were conducted during the week. All persons are invited to visit this memorial when in the Washington area. (Photo by Bill Sherrod)

Schedule changed

The Appomattox town trash pick-up schedule will be altered for the Thanksgiving holiday, according to town clerk, Bobbie Mullins.

The trash truck will make the rounds on Friday, Nov. 26, rather than on Thursday, she notes.

Mullins also says that the Town Office will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, and on the following day, Friday, Nov. 26.

The office will be open for business again on Monday, Nov. 29.

Clinic slated

An Oral Cancer Clinic will be held on Sunday, Nov. 21 from 12 noon until 4 p.m. in the offices of Dr. S. R. Lawson, Dr. John M. Fedison and Dr. Kyle Wheeler.

An oral surgeon and an orthodontist from Lynchburg will be on hand to assist the local dentists in the examinations.

The clinic is free.

Deadline changed

Deadlines will be moved up a day for next week's issue of the Times-Virginian.

All news and advertising material must be in the newspaper office by 2 p.m. Monday. The paper will be on local newsstands Tuesday night, and in the mail in time for subscribers to get their copies before the Thanksgiving holiday.
